NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Sometimes we worry a lot about society labeling us into boxes. I find it however, much more troublesome when we label ourselves into these boxes as well. Because when we do that, we forget that we have so much potential to do so many things... and that sometimes along the way we might not only find our selves, but that we are much more than what we initially thought we could be.

There is no better place to find this discovery than through Theatre. Here we have parents who are set designers, prop masters and costume designers, teens who are make up artists and crew members, and kids who are playing soldiers who are becoming heroes.

Theatre enables us to expand our creativity and find out that there is so much that we can do... to show us that sometimes we have all carry so much potential, that our reflection cannot show all of what we have inside each of us.

I would like to thank so many people who have been a part of this exciting journey: First of all Katie Wallace, my amazing choreographer and her assistant Johnathan, for working with me to make every dance number and movement piece amazing, Shannon Prendergast, my wonderful assistant, for all of her amazing ideas, invaluable research and constant dedication to this project, Matt Ignacio, our amazing musical director, who is a joy to work with and is amazing at what he does.

I would like to send out a huge thanks to Martin Ferreira and the White Dragon Martial Arts school for adding such a huge plus to this show. We truly could not have done this without you. I would also want to thank every parent and helpful hand involved in this production, in every committee. Your incredible dedication to this project does not cease to amaze me every day.

And last, but certainly not least, I would like to thank you, the audience. Without your support, none of this would ever be possible.

And now I invite you to take part in the legendary story of Mulan.

Enjoy the show!
